ATTENTION.

The figures at the right of the address on each paper, indicates the indebtedness on the Era, up to

JANUARY, 1860.

Thus, R. Blake £1.50, means that R. Blake owes £1.50, to pay for the current year up to Jan'y 1860; or thus J. Smith 90, means that J. Smith has paid up. We hope this system will have the effect of lessening the large amount of indebtedness to this office.

INCREASE OF TAXES.

"As a great anxiety exists, to learn the effect of the revenue produced by the operation of the tariff framed by Mr. Galt, I hasten to make public the gratifying fact that the Customs' debts collected in 1859 exceed those of the preceding year, by this large amount of upwards of one million dollars." Without pretending to perfect accuracy, I believe the sum paid in for Customs during the year just past, amounted to considerable more than £4,000,000, while in 1858 it reached only £2,363,757. I may possibly be in error to some insignificant extent, but it is certain that the excess in favor of 1859 is more than £1,070,000 (one million and seventy thousand dollars)."

We clip the foregoing from the Quebec Correspondent of the Toronto Colonist which shows pretty conclusively, on Ministerial confession, that the people are paying pretty freely for sustaining Coalition Governments, and also for the "Double shuffle," which made Mr. Galt Finance Minister of Canada. The writer of the above extract says—"I hasten to make public the gratifying fact that the Customs' dues of 1859 exceed those of the preceding year, by the large amount of upwards of one million dollars!" A "gratifying fact," truly, to know that Mr. Galt's scheme has drawn from the honest farmers, mechanics and artisans of Canada, "upwards of one million" more taxes in solid dollars, during 1859, than was squeezed out by his predecessor, Mr. Cooley, in 1858. This certainly may be tremendously "gratifying" to Mr. Galt and his friends who handle the cash—exceedingly "gratifying" to Canada's London Bankers; but how stands the matter with those who have had this large item to pay? How is it with consumers? During the year 1859, has the farmer realized better prices? Has the mechanic or artisan obtained better remuneration for his toll? or the laborer for his day's work? These questions must be answered in the negative, and hence the conclusion arrived at, is—the people of Canada are 1,000,000 dollars out of pocket. And this result, the Ministry term "gratifying," while their organs re-echo the sentiment and shout exultingly over the clever financing of Mr. Galt.

The same correspondent goes on to say, "that the excise duties have increased in a still greater ratio, having more than doubled during the past year;" and then sums up by saying the excess to the revenue in "favor of 1859, is £1,231,745"—in other words, "showing a total increase closely approaching a million and a quarter of dollars." Notwithstanding this tremendous increase in the taxation of the country, Mr. Galt has been compelled to seek the offices of stock-brokers in England to replenish the treasury. Government organs may try to make it appear that this result is very "gratifying," but the country generally cannot regard it in any other light than exhibiting the enormous expense they are compelled to pay to sustain a Coalition government from an adjoining Circuit will take part in the above services.

Political News.

By Quebec correspondence to Upper Canada journals, we learn that Parliament will assemble for the transaction of business in about one month. Our Minister of Finance and Assessment" and the Post Master General are expected from Europe the beginning of the ensuing week. One of the city organs announces that immediately on their arrival the Cabinet will proceed to the conclusion of their programme for the coming Session; and although a studious effort has been made to "keep dark" the questions upon which the Address will treat, yet we believe it is understood it will express satisfaction in Mr. Galt's scheme for increasing the Public debt, and the necessity of paying Mr. Post Master General Smith's expenses for a trip to Europe for the benefit of his health. The School Law and Military Acts are also to be amended, with an announcement that the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa have been commenced.

From the Hamilton Spectator, the Western organ of the Ministry, we learn that strange facts are exhibited that M. Carter's reign will cease shortly after the opening of Parliament. It is announced that Hon.

Mr. Scott will propose a resolution declaring that it is inexpedient to proceed further with the Public Works at Ottawa until the question of Federation is settled, and that he is to be supported by all the Opposition proper and several members who have hitherto supported the present Ministry.—Should this prove true, there is no doubt but the present advisors of His Excellency will be defeated.

The newly made Solicitor General for Concan Kan, M. Morin, is to be opposed in seeking his re-election for Terrebonne, by Mr. Lavoie, who, it is said, has fair prospects of success. Mr. Morin's opponent was formerly a supporter of the present Ministry; but placing such man in so responsible an office as Solicitor General, has created universal dissatisfaction among even the friends of Cartier & Co. The Montreal Pilot thinks to oppose Mr. Morin upon his accepting office, is in very bad taste; but he appears to forget the opposition he gave Mr. Dorion at the time that gentleman was jugged out of his seat for Montreal. What consistency.

Mr. Galt, following in the wake of his predecessor, while in London, issued a pamphlet—pamphlets are all the rage just now—to bolster up his new scheme for consolidating the Public Debt of Canada. It will be recollectcd that some time in November 1858, Mr. Galt addressed a letter to the then Colonial Secretary, urging that this Canada was in an unsound state and considered Federation as the only remedy; but now, when it becomes necessary to change the tactics in order to secure the accomplishment of his scheme, although Federation has not taken place, he stiftifies himself by announcing in effect, "that the Province is perfectly satisfied with the present state of things," and that all is "peace and plenty." On this point the Globe of Wednesday has the following:

"The exhibit of Canadian prosperity for which Mr. Galt holds himself responsible, is curiously calculated to be amusing. If what he tells the Londoners were true, Canada would be the commercial oasis of the Western world. Milk and cheese, a noble type of the good things in which Canada at the present moment abounds, are according to the gospel of Galt, its representatives exempting in some measure. British trade—prosperous industry—a delightful tariff—merchants travelling—Crown—farmers happy beyond comparison! So, at least, Mr. Galt would persuade Father John. What think Upper Canadians of the picture? Are they mistaken, or is Mr. Galt dealing in romance? Are they well-to-do, after all, or is Mr. Galt producing fancy sketches for money-borrowing purposes? The fable is worthy of a Jesuit. The warmest sentiments of regard towards the mother country are ingeniously coupled with a cynical claim that the future may claim a heavy toll. That Mr. Galt may congratulate himself on hitting two birds with one stone. He throws a gentle sop to the friends of Imperial connection, and at the same time gives an encouraging link to annexationists. A true man is Mr. Galt, and greater is his pamphlet!"

The figures at the right of the address on each paper, indicates the indebtedness on the Era, up to

Thus, R. Blake £1.50, means that R. Blake owes £1.50, to pay for the current year up to Jan'y 1860; or thus J. Smith 90, means that J. Smith has paid up. We hope this system will have the effect of lessening the large amount of indebtedness to this office.

ATTENTION.

the New Era.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Richard Maclellan, an ex-member of the Municipal Council of this Township, (having been defeated at the last election,) and one of our newly-made erudite Maclellans, stated publicly, both before and after his election, and in his speech at the hustings—"That during the five years preceding his election to the Council, upwards of sixteen hundred and fifty pounds of the public money of the Municipality had been embezzled by his predecessor. Now, Sir, this grave charge, and certainly demands investigation; and, if true, the delinquents should be brought to justice, and be compelled to disgorge their ill-got gains, and receive their punishment as their crime deserves. And if the statement be false, the members, or ex-members, whenever they may be, ought to come forward and exonerate themselves from the charge, as every member must (if the statement be true,) be implicated in the charge. Not wishing to encroach further on your columns at present, I shall close by hoping that the parties concerned will feel it to be their duty to satisfy the public in this matter.

I remain, Mr. Editor, Yours, etc.

King, Jan. 23, 1860. A RATE-PAYER.

[We have no knowledge in regard to the above; and if Mr. Maclellan has been misunderstood we shall be glad to give his correction; or, if the charge be true we will lend our aid to ventilate the matter.—ED. ERA.]

1859. The Globe. 1860.

In soliciting the increased support of the Capitalists public for the seventeenth volume of this work, the publisher has to state, that nothing should be left undone to render the journal worthy of the high reputation it has earned in past years. A new and beautiful font of copper-faced type, cast specially for the occasion, at the celebrated foundry of Besse, Jarius Connor and Sons, New York, will sustain the typographical credit of the establishment—and the aid of an enlarged corps of Editors, Reporters, and Correspondents will assure to the readers of THE GLOBE all that is interesting in News, Politics, Literature, and Commerce.

During the coming year, the Globe will continue to pay all that attention to the public affairs of this province which has received for it its present position. The Province is acknowledged as well to its full power to be the eye of great changes; and this will seek to influence for the benefit of the people at large. It will advocate such a change in the constitution as will give the Upper and Lower Canada the control of their own local affairs, and will give general matter to a joint authority ofimplanted and inexpensive form. The necessity of imposing such checks upon Parliament and the Executive will prevent the borrowing of money without the consent of the people, will be carefully insisted upon. The Globe will also advocate the Voluntary Principle—Education, elementary and collegiate, free from sectarianism,—incorporation of the Hudson's Bay territory with Canada—A Bankruptcy Law for the relief of the honest debtor—Improvement of the Public Lands—Reciprocal Free Trade with the United States—the improvement of Canadian agriculture—economy in every branch of the public expenditure, and generally every measure which tends to the improvement of humanity in religion, morals, and material prosperity.

During the next six months, in the constituencies and meetings of the people, as well as in Parliament at Quebec, many of these subjects will be discussed, the more vital and important of them with an earnestness and vigor rarely before witnessed in this Province. As a promoter as well as a recorder of the movements of the day, the Globe will possess extraordinary interest for all classes of readers, and the friends of progress are requested to aid in extending its circulation among the masses of the people.

The editorial conductor of the Globe can be best estimated by the uninterrupted success that has attended its publication. But constitutional critics demands further exertion in that direction, and it will be supplied. In regard to news fresh efforts will be used to supply to the readers of the Globe the earliest and most copious intelligence from all parts of the world. Correspondence is received from Great Britain, British Columbia, the North West Territory, and all that transpires at home and in the United States is diligently recorded. Special attention is devoted to commercial intelligence; the markets are reported more fully than in any other journal.

A limited space is devoted to agricultural subjects, and everything which tends to the development of the most important branch of Canadian industry receives special attention.

Amusements.

"The best, like experience, have often the worse."

"Books lead me more than Nature."

"He that died half a year ago is as dead as Adam."

"Tredolo is not simply nonsense; it may come in the wrong place."

"Perhaps the best prescription for the cure of felon is hemp-poultice."

"Now to avoid drowning—always keep your head above water."

"There's a brandy-mash," as the wag said when a drunken man fell through a pan of glaz.

"The walls are in such a deadly dangerous condition that they ought to be sent to a female asylum."

"You who are travelling down the hill of life, should be very careful not to drive too fast. Look your wheels."

"A drunkard hearing that the earth was round said that accounted for his rolling off often."

"If you think that it is an easy thing to square the circle, just go and count your wife's bill for loops."

"We suppose that there is quite as large an amount of cast upon the land as there is upon the water."

"We rarely hear of a man committing suicide for want of a loaf of bread; but it is often done for want of a coach.—See Barlow."

"That young man who drinks, bets, gambles, and idles away his time, is on a thin ice."

"When Lord Nelson fought his great battle in the Sound it was the result alone which decided whether he was to kill a hand at court or a rod at a court-martial."

"We have heard of an economical man who always takes his morn in front of a mirror—he does this to double the dishes. If that isn't philosophy, we should like to kn w what it is."

"A rough-looking rural gentleman walked into the studio of Philadelphia artist, whose sign indicated that he taught "drawing" and requested him to try his art upon a four year old mule, promising to pay liberally if the "darned creature" was taught to "draw."

"Boy," said an ill-tempered old follow to a noisy lad, "what are you hollering for when I am going by?" "Hump," said the boy "what are you going for when I am hollering?"

"Bryant says that "the groves were God's first temples." A good many romantic young livers unquestionably find them delightful in eligible hours."

A Western Editor apologizes to his readers now lost after this fashion: "We expected to have a death and a marriage to publish this week, but a violent storm prevented the wedding, and the doctor being in-ken sick himself, the patient recovered, and we are accordingly cheated out of both."

"Wise.—A blacksmith, having been standered, was advised to apply to the courts for redress. He replied, with true wisdom—"I shall never sue anybody for slander; I can not afford the time it would cost me to get in a court-case in a year!"

To the Point.—A lecturer, addressing a Mechanical Institute, contended, with tiresome prolixity, that "Art could not improve Nature," until one of the audience loosing all sense, set the room in a roar by exclaiming, "How would you look without your wig?"

Before the Flood.—A worthy keaman formerly living at Paradise, near Scotwood was once under examination at the assessor when he was asked if he knew how to —

"No," he replied, "but aw kend his father."

"What was that?"

"Before the flood."

"Now, my dear," inquired the learned counsel (who knew nothing of the flood of 1771, and thought to be down upon the waters), where did you live then?"

"In Paradise, tibby sure!"

A roar of laughter completed the amazement and discomfiture of Horseshair.— Gateshead Observer.

PROSPERITY.

There is no one, we imagine, who does not feel disposed of attaining the object of his wishes, since it is a sentiment implanted in every human heart. How many do we find, however, who, after they have secured the prize they so eagerly sought after, only learn, when too late, that they were but expending their energies in pursuit of a useless bauble, which, now that it is attained, affords them but real satisfaction. Unless the object of our desire is a worthy one, its possession will never secure happiness. It may be a time, create a momentary solace, only to be followed by useless lamentation. When the winds of adversity burst around our path, a most commonest fortune—being the case, wherein it is our co-operation with that fiendish godess that determines either the one thing or the other—failure or success. Man in a measure, tho' subversive of circumstances, is nevertheless the arbitor of his own misery or happiness, since each individual moving in the wide circle of society, can in the proper exercise of the talents with which his Creator has endowed him, in in his ground on the battle-field of life, instead of becoming a tool for the world, is kicked into oblivion. What we are, we generally make ourselves, and there is no use of attributing our non-success in this world to Miss Fortune, who is not unwilling to give us with prosperity, if we only act upon the principle involved in the following lines from Homer:

"To this world we'll be true;
And then it follows, as the night the day,
That cannot make thee be false to any man."

TAR AND FEATHERS IN OAKVILLE.—Another disgraceful outrage occurred in this town on Thursday night last. Three women of the town were taken from their beds, stripped, tarred and feathered by a gang of rowdies, every one of whom ought to be hanged. It is to be lamented that the authorities of the town instead of expelling their scoundly injur-ers, the writer of the letter signed A Subscriber, in our issue of last week, did not act upon his timely warning, on this present disgraceful and brutal outrage. Prevent it better than cure. One could almost believe there are some men and boys in this town who are not born of woman, who have no mother, sister or wife. No offence on the part of women can justify such brutality towards them. Women could not lead a life which creates a nuisance offensive to the order and virtue in society, if they are not inspired by man.—Advertiser.
